

Clean Energy Accelerator Program

What Is It?

The Clean Energy Accelerator Program supports small businesses in Philadelphia focused on clean, green, and renewable energy.

Participants will receive specialized one-on-one support to help them develop clean energy solutions that impact their local communities.

Who Can Apply?

The program is open to local women and minority-owned small businesses in the clean energy space.

This includes business in:

- Energy Technology, Application, and Software Services
- Green Business Models
- Energy Access Solutions

Is There Funding?

Eligible expenses up to $25,000 will be covered for program participants, for example:

- Focus Group Costs
- Conference Fees
- Accounting or Legal Fees
- Proposal Consulting
- Incubator Fees
- Grant Writing Support

Requirements

All program participants will work with SBDC staff to develop plans and milestones to commercialize their technical and business concepts in preparation for responding to SBIR/STTR project solicitations from federal agencies.

Apply Now

To apply, please email SBDC program manager Jamie Shanker-Passero at jamiesbdc@temple.edu. Applicants must also fill out the SBDC intake form at bit.ly/TUCEAP. Applications are due March 30th.

Small Business Development Center
Temple University

SBIR · STTR
America's Seed Fund

Apply Now

For more information, please email jamiesbdc@temple.edu.